Stir Up Collaboration

Make Your Space Versatile

The way we work, and the office space itself, is changing rapidly. Our compact workstations bring to light new considerations around social distance, making the need for alternative spaces where workers can be productive—outside a traditional desk—even more important.

The Astir™ Collaborative Work collection offers supportive seating flexible enough to fit into your existing office space, accessible meeting areas beyond the conference room, and plenty of ways to collaborate with distancing in mind.

Meeting room privacy meets up-and-about activity

Astir™ Collaborative Work answers the call for soft seating solutions while providing separate work spaces and sturdy posture support for those looking to step away from their desks. The line provides a soft yet upright sit to keep employees engaged and working comfortably at a table setting. Benches and poufs offer additional seating where needed and a unique, single-seat style with high screens on three sides creates a quiet, secure and comfortable space for individual focus.

Statement Of Line

A fresh way to get away from your desk

Finding the right combination of properly sized tables and seats is a key element in the creation of efficient, open-space meeting areas that still offer employees the means to practice safe social distance. Multiple models including single, booth and cafe-type seating, a True-corner that makes it easy to make an L-shaped unit as well as poufs and benches, create numerous solutions for every space in the office. In addition, Astir™ seating and Birk® table heights were created to work seamlessly together in all collaborative areas.

Tim Buchenberger

Rick Joutras

In collaboration with HON, the QDesign team of Tim Buchenberger and Rick Joutras wanted to design around an optimal work posture.

"Astir seating is meant to encourage a comfortable upright posture while understanding the relationship between the seat and the worksurface" said Joutras. "Along with the correct posture, we also wanted to be sure that the collection was modular and could be easily grouped together"
